

Crickets Pure Pleasure: Middlesex v. Yorkshire, September 2015

CRICKETS PURE PLEASURE is the account, in words and images, of a remarkable four-day game of cricket played at Lords in September 2015 between Yorkshire and Middlesex. It opened with high drama when Yorkshires Ryan Sidebottom bowled a triple-wicket maiden at the start of the game, and closed spectacularly on the fourth day when Yorkshire suffered a batting collapse. In between was a magnificent 149 from Nick Compton that led the way in wresting the initiative from Yorkshire. To these ingredients were added the absorbing attritional cricket that makes the long form of the game so compelling. At the end Middlesex were the victors but Yorkshire were crowned worthy County Champions of 2015. CRICKETS PURE PLEASURE takes the reader through the highs and lows, the quick movements and slow movements, the loud and the soft of cricket in its greatest form. Where words fall short of conveying the splendour of the whole, the 65 photographs take up the challenge, so that the book as a whole aims to give some insight into the pure pleasure, free of blemish of any kind, that cricket can provide.
